Asking For Help

Ever have one of those moments when pride goes completely out the window and you ask for help, beg for help, when you normally wouldn't?

That was me yesterday.

There I was, taken completely off guard. Needing help and not ashamed to ask.

But, that's not always me. Sometimes I don't ask.

Why? Because I'm too darn prideful and don't want anyone to know I need help.

But as I stood there yesterday, asking for and receiving help, I realized something once again: asking for help is not only a good thing, it's a great thing!

Did I look and sound all put together? No. In fact, any passerby would probably have thought: What in the world is wrong with that lady?

Did I look and sound a little strange? Sure. Desperation will do that to a person.

But as I processed the events of the day, I realized, I wasn't embarrassed and I wasn't humiliated. Why? Because I was me. I was real.

You see, when I'm real - with God, with myself and with others - I can ask for help. And...I can actually accept it! With no attitude and with no shame. This is me. This is where I'm at. But...I don't want to stay here. Would you help me?

And that's what God wants from each one of us. Us. Ourselves. Open, honest, transparent before Him.

Need help today? I encourage you...ask! Ask God, your Father, your Dad, your Papa.

Be you. Be real. And just ask: Papa God, this is what's going on. This is where I'm at. But, I don't want to stay here. Would you help me?

And He will.

Your Dad, your Father, your Papa God loves you! He loves you more than you know, more than you can even imagine!

He loves you. He delights in you. He rejoices over you and about you!

And He loves to answer your prayers, your desperate cries for help! He is your Provider, your Protector, the One who choose you before the foundations of the world.

He loves you! And He is here. And He is available.

I prayed to the Lord, and He answered me. He freed me from all my fears. Those who look to Him for help will be radiant with joy; no shadow of shame will darken their faces. In my desperation I prayed, and the Lord listened; He saved me from all my troubles. Psalm 34:4-6 NLT

I look up to the mountains - does my help come from there? My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth! Psalm 121:1-2 NLT

The Lord Himself watches over you! Psalm 121:5 NLT
